

TMF

Stewarding Potential

Learning to Listen: The Key to Hearing What God is Asking of Us

Our TMF blog shares stories and essays inspired by our purpose: to help individuals, families, congregations and like-minded organizations achieve their God-inspired potential. In this post published shortly before Christmas, Carole Somers-Clark shares what she learned as a facilitator of one of TMF's Leadership Ministry peer groups, and the importance of listening during the Christmas season, and all year long.

Read more here

In Case You Missed It...

Like us on Facebook and Instagram

Take a look around our Facebook and Instagram to see the full range of kinships we are creating. Stay up to date on news about grant recipients, leadership ministry, events, interviews, and more. Have you joined us yet?

Facebook

My First Lesson in Generosity

In this recent blog post, Tom Locke, TMF president, shares his reflections on the roots of generosity.

Read more here

A New TMF Video

TMF announced seven recipients of the TMF Medallion of Merit, our organization's highest honor. TMF President, Tom Locke presented the awards at our Imagining Abundance gala held on November 20, 2016. The honor is bestowed on individuals who have made a significant contribution towards advancing the mission of TMF and/or The United Methodist Church. Each recipient is profiled in the video linked below.

Watch Video

Dr. Gil Rendle Learning and Leadership Endowment

In recognition and celebration of all that Gil Rendle has done for the church, TMF recently announced the creation of the Gil Rendle Learning and Leadership Endowment. It honors Gil's legacy by supporting his work to create opportunities for TMF to open new paths of discernment, decision-making, and action by leaders in connection with TMF's Leadership Ministry.

Give Today