

TMF

Stewarding Potential

Bringing Dignity and Community to Vulnerable Seniors

Our TMF blog shares stories and essays inspired by our purpose: to help individuals, families, congregations and organizations achieve their God-inspired potential. In this post, Stephanie Free, Executive Director of Tyler Street Tower, describes the challenges of growing old without family or a support network.

Read more

More stories of transformation . . .

TMF Grants Ministry Supports Strategic, Imaginative Efforts

Union Coffee demonstrates the risk-taking and innovation of many of our grantees as they leave the nets of security and convention behind to answer God's call to do something new and bold. Find out more about Union in the video below and then check out other creative ministries recently awarded grants from TMF.

Watch video

JoAnn and James Ranton Turn Tragedy into Tribute

Read how one couple's irrevocable loss became a legacy of life-changing, enduring gifts for others. Love is a life force like no other.

Read more

Meet Texas Wesleyan University Scholars

TMF is proud to help steward the potential of these promising students through access to a quality higher education at TWU that nurtures "intellectual curiosity, civic responsibility, and spiritual sensitivity."

Watch video

TMF Resource Database Now Online!

Check out TMF's new searchable database of recommended resources that focus on our region and denominational heritage and reflect our emphasis on creating cultures of purpose, generosity, and courage. Browse by title or key words. Featured this month is Bishop Robert Schnase's book, Just Say YES! Read a summary by Melvin Amerson, TMF Resource Specialist and Senior Area Representative. And view a video of Bishop Schnase describing how "permission giving" leads to a "ministry of encouragement" in congregations.

Watch video